A complete nutrition plan to help young athletes (8-18) hone their focus, gain strength and muscle, overcome fatigue, and improve their performance. More specifically you will learn how to:

- Evaluate the nutritional needs of young athletes based upon their gender, age, pubertal stage and sport.
- Communicate nutrition messages to motivate young athletes.
- Recommend dietary regimens that will fuel and hydrate young athletes during practices and competitions.
- Apply knowledge of macro and micronutrients to determine if potential deficiencies exist.
- Recommend dietary changes to correct any deficiencies or suboptimal eating habits.
- Evaluate young athletes for potential eating disorders.
- Apply knowledge of dietary supplements to discuss efficacy and potential risks of use.
- Propose ways to improve snacks offered during practices, competitions and at concession stands.
- Discuss healthy eating practices when dining away from home.
- Apply knowledge of popular diets to recommend changes or discontinuation.
- Propose meal ideas for when preparation time is limited.
- Recommend dietary regimens for young athletes with diabetes.

3. NUTRITION NEWS YOU CAN USE

Consumption of diet sodas do not appear to increase the risk of diabetes

This study of 1,685 middle aged adults (average 52 years) found that those who regularly consumed one can of sugar-sweetened beverages (SSBs) a day were 46% more likely to develop elevated blood sugar levels than those who rarely or never drank SSBs. However intake of diet sodas was not associated with elevated levels of blood sugar or insulin resistance.

ACTION STEPS: To help your patients avoid or manage diabetes, enter the keywords "diabetes" in the search field at www.easyCPEcredits.com and find six different CPE programs addressing this topic, including our best-selling Medical Nutrition Therapy for Diabetes Mellitus, 7th Edition, by M.J. Franz, MS, RD, LD, CDE, C249 (or the electronic edition C249E), 18 CPEUs, <http://www.wolfrinke.com/CEFILES/C249CPEcourse.html>.

4. HOW TO MAINTAIN A POSITIVE ATTITUDE--PART II

By Wolf J. Rinke, PhD, RDN, CSP

In the November eNL click here I described the following strategies to help you maintain a positive attitude:

- * Start your day softly.
- * Start slowly.
- * Focus on the good stuff.
- * Take advantage of the "throne."
- * Start positively.
- * Exercise.
- * Make yourself laugh
- * Make the most of your commute
- * Give love.

Once you get your day started be sure to:

 Use positive greetings.

Take advantage of the "fact" that many people want to know how you're doing. They do, don't they? Why else would they say, "How are you?" (Are you chuckling, or are you taking me too seriously?) Right, that's merely a rhetorical question. However, how you respond is very important. Do you answer on autopilot with "Fine"? Or worse, do you reply with: "Not too bad" or "It could be worse"? Or do you forget that it is a rhetorical question, and proceed to tell the other person everything she didn't really want to know? Instead, make it a habit to answer in a positive fashion with "Great!", "Fantastic!", "Excellent!" or on days when you don't feel quite as positive, with "Good, and I'm getting better!" This strategy will send a positive affirmation to your subconscious and reinforce the positive programming you started in the morning. Because your subconscious is unable to tell fact from fiction, it will accept everything you send it as if it were true. Therefore you are creating your own positive "reality." Also be sure to say farewell in a positive fashion. Instead of using the worn out phrase "Have a good day," remind yourself and others that they are in charge of their lives, by saying: "MAKE it a great day!"

* Smile. Find something positive to say to everyone you care about and don't forget to smile. Somehow at the end of the day you will feel much better about the human race, your profession and most importantly about yourself. Why? Because whatever you give is what you get!

* Have fun. Make a decision throughout the day that no matter how tough things get, you expect to have fun, because if it's fun it will get done!

* Transform your thoughts. Any time a negative thought, anger, jealousy or sadness creeps into your mind, substitute something positive in its place. When you think positively, work seems much easier and enjoyable, and you will be much more energized and encouraged. You also make a better impression on your clients, co-workers and even your boss, which encourages them to think more favorably of you, which comes in handy when your boss has to select someone to promote or lay off. Plus when you think more positively about others, you build stronger and more productive relationships—leading to greater success and satisfaction at work and at home.

Choose to consistently focus on the positive and you will live a happier, healthier and maybe even wealthier life, even during tough times.

If you like more in depth help read my Develop a Positive Attitude: Live a Healthier and More Productive Life CPE program. It is approved for 10 CPEUs and is available on SALE at <http://www.wolfrinke.com/CEFILES/C230CPEcourse.html>.

Here is what one customer had to say about this powerful CPE program:
"I found the study guide extremely helpful. It was exactly what I needed after having 2 children to get me thinking again about my career in dietetics. Thank you"

6. HUMOR BREAK

After Xmas poem (Provided to me by Linda S. Eck Mills, MBA, RDN, LDN, FADA)

T'was the month after Christmas, and all through the house
Nothing would fit me, not even a blouse.

The cookies I'd nibbled, the eggnog I'd taste
At the holiday parties had gone to my waist.

When I got on the scale there arose such a number!

When I walked to the store (less a walk than a lumber),

I'd remember the marvelous meals I'd prepared,
The gravies and sauces and beef nicely rared.

The wine and the rum balls, the bread and the cheese,

And the way that I'd not said "No thank you, please."

As I dressed myself in my husband's old shirt

And prepared once again to do battle with dirt,

I said to myself, as I only can,

"You can't spend a winter disguised as a man!"

So away with the last of the sour cream dip.

Get rid of the fruitcake, every cracker and chip.

Every last bit of food that I like must be banished

'Till all the additional ounces have vanished.

I won't have a cookie, not even a lick.

I'll want only to chew on a long celery stick.

I won't have hot biscuits, or corn bread or pie.

I'll munch on a carrot and quietly cry.

I'm hungry, I'm lonesome, and life is a bore,

But isn't that just what January's for?

Unable to giggle, no longer a riot.

Happy New Year to all and to all a good diet!
